

“A GOOD COMMON SENSE DETECTOR”

“The new Garrett Ace 150 had appealed to me ever since I had first seen it advertised within the pages of Treasure Hunting magazine and, being moderately priced, I felt it could just be the machine that I was looking for...

“The Ace 150’s control panel is laid out in a very user-friendly way with an easy to understand LCD screen and three simple yellow rubberised push buttons...

“I can honestly say they have come up with a good detector that does adapt well to my own local terrain. Also, with the Ace 150, Garrett has introduced a good common sense detector that is within the budget of most of us due to its very sensible no nonsense price. In the field tests I read about the Garrett Ace 150 on the Internet it has been described as a “general purpose machine”. However, it has the good build quality and performance that I feel can easily compete against its more expensive rivals.

The full review by Bob Smith was published in the November 2005 issue, page 30, and continued in the December 2005 issue of:

Copyright © 2005, Greenlight Publishing

