

“A BREAKTHROUGH OF TECHNOLOGY”

“Charles Garrett continues producing better machines with built-in user friendliness...It is so intuitive that I could take a brand new detectorist and have the person successfully using the GTP 1350 in five minutes...

“It’s a breakthrough of technology in that it is the first detector in its class to make target sizing available. This innovative machine makes sizing more affordable while increasing the number of coils available on it...Most of all, I like the GTP 1350 because it found a tremendous amount of treasure for me in a short period of time while I enjoyed every minute.”

The full review by Ben Myers was published in the November 2004 issue, page 30, of:

Copyright © 2004, People’s Publishing Company, Inc.

