

“DESTINED TO BECOME A DESIGNER CLASSIC”

“I know it isn’t the usual convention when reviewing a product, but I am so excited I am going to give you my conclusion first. Buy the Pro-Pointer before they are all snapped up! This little fella is destined to become a designer classic of the detecting world. I have just returned from a foray in a local field putting it to the test, and I am impressed with the performance; very impressed...

“It is user-friendly with a simple ‘one-touch’ operation. I am impressed with its design, its balance, its shape, its texture and the performance. Moreover, it is durable, easy to use and very solid...

“There are audio alerts and the probe vibrates whenever metal is detected. They both pulse proportionally the nearer you get to the target and there is no need to remove your headphones. As you move away from the target, the rate of the pulsing audio and vibrations decrease. This feature, which helps the user to determine the precise location of the target, is unique to the Garrett probe.

“Also exclusive is the sifting blade which is ideal for scraping through soil or sand while searching for the target, a feature I found very useful.”

The full review by John Winter was published in the November 2008 issue, page 47, of:

Copyright © 2008, Searcher Publications, Ltd.

TEST RESULTS	Test Results
	Ease of Use	10
	Performance	10
	Build quality	10
	Weather resistance	10
	Value for money	9
SEARCHER RATING

